CONFE Premiers urge cut in taxes

Jobless figures remain too high

By ALLAN DICKIE

ST. ANDREWS, N.B. CP - Canada's 10 premiers Thursday suggested the federal government cut taxes to improve consumer purchasing power and help battle unemployment.

By ALLAN DICKIE
ST. ANDREWS, N.B. (CP) - Canada's 10 premiers Thursday suggested the federal government cut taxes to improve consumer purchasing power and help battle unemployment.

The premiers also suggested action to "ensure that housing construction is speeded up, either through tax measures, accelerated government procedures or increased funding."

In a communique issued shortly before midnight, Atlantic time, the premiers agreed that "unemployment in Canada at its present level is unacceptable."

The provincial leaders, who are scheduled to wind up the formal part of their annual conference today, said that forecasts of continuing high unemployment rates for at least the next 18 months were a source of great concern.

They agreed that both short and long-term measures are needed if a significant reduction of unemployment rates is to be achieved.

Besides tax cuts and housing starts, they suggested the re-introduction of a federal forgivable capital loan fund as a third short-term measure.

Commenting on the federal government's economic planning, Saskatchewan Premier Allan Blakeney said that "we did feel there was certainly a lack of national focus."

Election talk anew

OTTAWA (CP) - Renewed efforts to convince Liberal Prime Minister Trudeau to call a fall election were in the works Thursday.

Two days before Trudeau's return from a vacation with his children, top Liberal party strategists met here privately to drum up fresh arguments for an election before Christmas.

Trudeau is reportedly one of the last of the reluctant Liberals to be persuaded that an election is needed before next spring.

Party planners have failed in other recent attempts to twist Trudeau's arm and this next try should be one of the last, insiders say.

Premiers such as Bill Bennett of British Columbia and William Davis of Ontario insist that French-speaking Canadians already have that right.

"We never look at anyone coming into Ontario from another province as anything but another Canadian," Davis said.

Levesque said negotiated agreements among provinces was not new and that his government was prepared to be flexible in that some provinces might have more difficulty than others in setting up French programs.

A position paper on language rights in which Blakeney said he was "disturbed and dismayed" at Levesque's proposal, touched off a heated exchange between the Saskatchewan and Quebec premiers during an afternoon closed-door session.

Blakeney said it was "not an argument or a dispute" but Levesque called it "a pretty vigorous exchange."

The Saskatchewan premier admitted when pressed by reporters that he may be misinterpreting Levesque's language proposal and said he was prepared to discuss the matter further when the premiers meet again today.

IONA CAMPAGNOLO

PARKS PEOPLE ANGRY

TORONTO (CP) - The board of directors of the Canadian Parks and Recreation Association has called for the resignation of Iona Campagnolo, federal minister of state for fitness and amateur sport.

A statement Thursday by association president W.R. Green said Mrs. Campagnolo has not demonstrated sufficient concern and attention for recreation.

A resolution passed by the association at its annual meeting said there has been a decline in the quantity and quality of recreation-related programs run by the department of national health and welfare, under which Mrs. Campagnolo's ministry operates.

The Ottawa-based, non-profit association is composed of about 2,000 persons employed or interested in the field of parks and recreation.

Campfires banned as forests heat up

An ban on campfires for the whole Prince Rupert forest zone was announced by Herb Quast of the Terrace branch of the forest service.

The ban came into effect midnight and will cover the whole northwestern part of the province excepting the outer coast areas in restriction zone seven. Prince Rupert, Ocean Falls and Stewart are considered outer coast areas.

Quast reported there have been three small fires since Tuesday.

One fire was started at the Aiyansh garbage dump, when an individual decided he would burn his garbage.

On mile 48 of the Nass Road at the lava beds, a fire started on the heavy lichen of the lava beds. It only covered one acre, but Quast said the fire probably set the ecology of the area back a few hundred years.

The cause of the fire is undetermined, but Quast guessed that it was probably caused by a cigarette smoker.

A fire on the old highway 16 seven miles west of town started in a grassy area and burned a strip 100 feet long and 15 feet wide. The forest service doesn't know who put it out, but they would like to thank them.

Dave Sparrow is the Terrace manager of the Canada Employment Service Canada Manpower and Unemployment Insurance Commission services are merging to form the Canada Employment and Immigration in B.C.

Volunteers on alert for fire

Thornhill Volunteer Fire Department has been lucky this hot summer; it has not had a single fire within its district.

The Thornhill Volunteer Firefighters have responded to three big fires outside the district and they have taken their own equipment with them. But the property of Thornhill has remained at the hall.

Thursday night practices centre around the important repair work at the hall because Fire Chief Jim Piper is not taking any chances in the hot weather. People wanting to burn down old buildings will have to wait until the temperature cools off.

"We aren't like Terrace," Piper says. "We can't go to a commercial outlet for repairs... We have to do that ourselves."

At the moment the firefighters own tanker is in constant need of repairs. It is a 1952 truck and there is difficulty getting parts for it.

The No. 1 firetruck is a 1952 vehicle and aside from the same problems as the tanker when breakdowns occur it is hauling 550 gallons of water when it should only be hauling 200 gallons.

"We need a new firetruck," says Piper. "I

Volunteer fireman Marty Nathanson demonstrates the Scott Air-Pak, an important piece of firefighting equipment. Among the equipment needed by the fire department is more paks.

hope the residents here will realize that when we go to referendum...With what we have presently we would have real trouble if there was an industrial fire."

The November referendum will be to get more equipment, such as bigger hoses and additional Scott Air-Paks which the firemen use when they enter a burning building.

According to Marty Nathanson, a volunteer who lives at the fire hall, they are similar to diving equipment.

"We have three at the moment which means that we can only take on hose inside a burning building." Another important reason for residents to support the referendum is fire insurance. Because of the age of the No. 1 truck it is not classified as a piece of firefighting equipment by the insurance underwriters.

Thornhill residents are paying more for insurance because only one fire truck is legally considered to be equipment, even though there are two firetrucks.

The volunteer fire department and the volunteer firefighters are two different entities.

According to Nathanson, half of the volunteers have had no experience and the other half join fire departments as volunteers wherever they live.

Fire Chief Jim Piper is well known as the leader of fire equipment repairs. The volunteers' own tanker started falling apart at the Kalum Lake Drive fire and Piper decided the repair work could not be put off any longer.

UIC AND MANPOWER JOIN

Better service to help find jobs

By BILL MARLES
Herald staff writer

Immigration, Canada Manpower and the Unemployment Insurance Commission have combined to form the Canada Employment and Immigration Commission. Terrace is one of two places in B.C. and several areas in Canada chosen as the site of a pilot project to begin October 1 and end March 1978. Dave Sparrow, manager of the Canada Employment Service in Terrace, says the pilot projects are to test out how to give the best service under the new setup.

In Terrace, there is only Canada Manpower and UIC. So it's basically a matter of training manpower personnel to do unemployment insurance work, and UIC people to give manpower service. This re-education program began August 1.

Sparrow says it's a big job to reorganize the 25,000 employees of manpower and UIC across Canada. Aslo staff members have to learn different jobs.

Government documents show that 70 percent of the people who seek jobs from manpower are unemployment insurance claimants.

The object is to serve the client better by his having to only go and see one person. Before, clients would have to go to see several persons to be served.

"Before it was a bureaucratic nightmare for our poor clients," said Sparrow.

Sparrow says there will be no losses of jobs in Terrace as a result of the re-organization. In fact, the number of staff has increased from 24 to 30 since July 1. The employment centre has been hiring mostly local people for the last one and a half years, he said.

The increase in staff, he added, has been accomplished by the moving of UIC files to Terrace from other centres. Sparrow says Manpower and UIC personnel have a little game going down there. If a employee identifies himself as being from manpower or UIC instead of the Canada Employment Service, he is fined 10 cents.

New signs saying "Canada Manpower and the Unemployment Insurance Commission" will soon be erected in place of "Canada Manpower" or "the Unemployment Insurance Commission".

The difference for the job seeker is that he will have to see fewer people. Sparrow expects that service will not be quiet as efficient as it can be for the first while. But later, instead of seeing several people in two offices, the job seeker will visit only one or two people in one office.

For instance, a logger finds himself out of work. Under the old system, he would go down to Canada Manpower for a look at the job board. If there is no work there, he would go to the UIC office and file for unemployment benefits. He would then be told to go back to manpower and register there.

Sparrow says the logger or other job seeker will be able to do it all in one trip - look at the job board, apply for UIC, register for work and have the alternatives, like re-training or taking an out-of-town job, explained to him.

Sparrow says there are now two staff members from Vancouver surveying the service the pilot project here is providing. By the time they are finished they will have interviewed 250 clients about the present service and how it can be improved.

Sparrow hopes the pilot project will prove that the commission needs fewer managers. This means there will be more workers to serve the public, he said.

The job creation branch office, which has to do with Canada Works and Young Canada Works, is still in a separate office. Sparrow hopes it will be under one office, after the pilot project is finished, next March.

Mourners and hawkers at funeral for Elvis

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Elvis Presley, the rock 'n' roll star whose sultry voice and gyrating hips made him the symbol and idol of the 1950s generation, was put to rest Thursday in a mausoleum banked high with flowers.

After a private funeral service at Presley's mansion, eight policemen on motorcycles led a procession of 16 white limousines to a cemetery four miles down Elvis Presley Boulevard in compliance with P.Presley's wishes for a white funeral.

Hundreds of persons lined the route from Presley's Graceland Mansion to Forest Hill Cemetery and thousands more waited at the cemetery.

About 200 mourners—including 50 members of Presley's family, his former wife, Priscilla, and 150 friends and business associates—pulled up in front of the mausoleum, bestrewn with 2,200 floral arrangements.

Fourteen pallbearers carried Presley's rose-decked, seamless copper coffin into a small chapel where the guests bid their final farewells.

Earlier, the mourners gathered in the Presley home for the eulogy and evangelical service.

The service, closed to news media and the fans who waited outside the gate at Presley's mansion, had been scheduled to last only 30 minutes. There was no immediate explanation of why the funeral guests were in the home for almost two hours.

KING ENTOMBED
The king of the rock 'n' roll was entombed with only the family and friends in attendance.

On Wednesday, the four-lane boulevard had been almost a mob scene, but there was no outcry Thursday when the popular singer's hearse pulled out of the driveway.

Bennett supports levy

VICTORIA (CP) — Premier Bill Bennett criticized the federal government Thursday for failing to give the provinces enough say in the handling of natural resources.

Bennett, in a position paper released in advance of presentation at the national premiers' conference at St. Andrews, N.B., that "early and meaningful consultation with the provinces" is necessary to rectify the problem, and recommended the establishment of new mechanisms to enhance cooperation.

The British Columbia premier said there have been several recent cases "in which provincial policy leverage in the resources area can and has been eroded by federal activities that have failed to respect the legitimate provincial role in resource development."

Bennett cited the Canada-U.S. pipeline treaty signed in January as one that did not take into account provincial desires.

"While such a treaty is likely in the best interests of both nations, it may present unnecessary resource management difficulties to provincial governments," he said in the paper.

STUDIED FUND
"For example, in British Columbia some study has gone into the creation of an 'oil spill contingency fund' which would be financed by a nominal tax on the through-put of a pipeline.

"As the treaty now stands, it is possible that such a measure may not be allowed, thereby leaving the province in a potentially vulnerable position should a costly spill occur in British Columbia."

Public input sought

Frances Long, community education services co-ordinator, wants to meet the public.

She says she wants to learn the needs of the Greater Terrace community, find out what resources are available for community education, learn who is available to teach courses, and find out what services there are to offer.

"I really want to sit down and talk to people who have any ideas about continuing education," she said. Her present aim is to make herself as accessible to the public as possible.

Long has taken over the job of community education services co-ordinator from Hugh Power who is returning to full-time teaching this year.

During her first week on the job, Power has given her the valuable assistance she needs in organizing herself and she says a good solid base has been built up over the years.

She added that she has also learned much about the program from the instructors who have been involved in it for many years.

Long, who grew up in Vancouver, thinks the area has a great deal of "beautiful scenery" to offer its residents and she is very pleased with her decision to move here.

She is not a complete stranger to the northwest. She was one of the members of B.C. Department of Education Task Force for Comprehensive Community Colleges which visited Terrace several years ago about the possibility of establishing a community college in the northwest.

She was the student representative on the task force and was the student society president of Capilano College.

She believes that academic programs are as important to the adult community as vocational programs.

Her office is located in the administration building of School District 88 on Kenney St. and she will soon have an office at Northwest Community College.

BC TELS PAYS FEE; NO CASE TO COURT

By BILL MARLES

Ron Drane, public affairs manager for B.C. Tel, said a $300 business license fee to the district of Terrace was a reasonable price to pay.

Speaking from Prince George, Drane said his company was merely "seeking a clarification of the municipal act" in holding back business license fees to municipalities throughout the province this year.

B.C. Tel decided to pay fees this year, when the district of Terrace threatened to take them to court.

But Drane said B.C. Tels still pursuing the matter with the province. The company wanted to pay the same business license fees to each community, rather than pay different fees to every municipality, he explained.

Terrace district administrator Bob Hallor said he received a phone call from Vancouver and the man on the other end (name unknown) said he was alarmed to see that the business license dispute had been scheduled to go to court, August 8.

"There was no intention of it going that far," the B.C. Tel man said. The $300 was received and the court action dropped by the district.

Hallor said it sounded like someone in a lower capacity had been a bit overzealous.

Hallor said a court case would have been a bit of "poor P.R." for B.C. Tel. He said other municipalities would have been watching the case as it would have been precedent setting.

No pen in city

Herald staff writer

Terrace may have missed out on getting a federal prison but Ald Vic Jolliffe says the town still has a chance at getting a provincial correctional institute.

Terrace council members recently met with G.D. Foster, the regional technical services administrator for the Canadian Penitentiary Services. Foster gave council information on how to apply for a provincial penitentiary.

Federal prisons take people who are sentenced for a period of over two years. Provincial prisons house inmates sentenced for under two years.

Foster told Terrace council members that the federal government has enough prisons in B.C. for the next five years. They are building institutes at Kamloops and Lillooet.

Foster said the federal government received many applications from communities who were interested in getting prisons. This surprised the penitentiary service because people used to be against prisons being in their community.

Jolliffe said, however, that a prison would employ 250 people.

Another factor is slowing the growth rate of the federal penitentiary service has been a declining prisoner population in B.C. There were a number of inmates moved away after the riots at the B.C. Pen.

Jolliffe said the fact that Terrace is away from the heavily populated areas should not in any way hinder the town getting a facility. He pointed out that a lot of the prison population is native, and Terrace lies in an area of high Indian population.

Interpreting the news

Begin's moves criticized by U.S.

UNITED NATIONS (CP)

— Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin appears to be steering his country into a collision course with the United States over the issue of Israeli settlements on Arab lands occupied in the 1967 war.

His decision Wednesday to authorize three more settlements on the West Bank of the Jordan River, the homeland of about 900,000 Arabs, is the latest step in an evolving, though unannounced, policy of reasserting Israel's claim to the occupied territories.

The step illustrates the widening gap between the views held in Washington and Tel Aviv on how best to entice Israel's Arab neighbors to the conference table to end the war and bring peace to the troubled Middle East.

U.S. President Carter was been saying publicly that Israel must be prepared to return the bulk of the occupied lands to the Arabs and to consider the establishment of a homeland for the Palestinians, made homeless when the state of Israel was created 30 years ago.

Begin has hedged on the question of territorial concession, promising on the one hand to be "open" in peace negotiations but saying on the other that the West Bank constitutes part of the ancient biblical lands of Judea and Samaria to which the Israelis have an "historic right."

SEEN AS AFFRONT

In a diplomatic sense, Begin's actions constitute an affront to Carter, who told a news conference following Begin's visit to Washington three weeks ago that he had asked the Israeli prime minister not to establish new settlements because they created obstacles to peace.

"I let him know very strongly," said Carter, "that this would be a matter that would cause our own government deep concern."

Ignoring the Carter request, Begin returned to Israel and promptly announced that he was legalizing three Jewish settlements established earlier on the West Bank. Three days ago, over the protests of Arabs who suspected a move toward annexation, Israel announced the extension of social services to Arab inhabitants of the West Bank.

UNEQUAL FISHING RESULTS

VANCOUVER (CP) — The International Pacific Salmon Fisheries Commission says there will be no extensions of fishing time in convention waters this week because of a substantial imbalance in the catch of pink salmon by Canadian fishermen.

The Canadian troll fishery off the west coast of Vancouver Island has made unprecedented large catches of pinks this year.

The commission says Canadians have caught about 900,000 pinks while the United States fishermen have caught 130,000.

For sockeye, cumulative records show U.S. fishermen have caught about 1.69 million fish while Canadians have landed about 1.619 million.

For this week, the commission made no changes in the scheduled fishing times

Business spotlight

Quebec keeps its credit rating

MONTREAL (CP) — After the Parti Quebecois election victory last November, many financial analysts warned that Quebec's investment potential was in jeopardy. Today, with the provincial government and Hydro-Quebec well on the way to realizing their current borrowing needs, the fears seem to have been groundless.

Less than five months into its fiscal year, Quebec has already borrowed $389.9 million, or about 44 per cent of the $900 million it established as its borrowing objective when the provincial budget was presented in April.

Hydro-Quebec, the provincially run utility, has secured loans amounting to $937 million, or about 85 per cent of the $1.1 billion it had planned to borrow in its current fiscal year ending Dec. 31.

Financial analysts now say the bond market, especially in the United States, over-reacted to the PQ victory Nov. 15 on a separatist platform.

"After the election, the market reacted, as it always does, to uncertainty," said Edward Waters of Kidder Peabody, the New York-based firm that underwrites Hydro-Quebec loans in the U.S.

"Once Wall Street can assess a certain situation, they'll put a price on it," he said in a recent interview, explaining that the government's performance since the election had calmed fears among U.S. investors.

CONFIDENCE BOOSTED Waters said investor confidence was boosted when Quebec's credit ratings were reaffirmed this spring. He noted that U.S. investors have been particularly impressed with the performance of Hydro-Quebec, which traditionally borrows more than the Quebec government.

"Based on this year's results, there is no triple-A rated utility in North America that will perform as well as Hydro," he said, adding that there are only four triple-A utilities in North America. Hydro still has only a double-A rank from Moody's and Standard and Poor.

Waters attributed the utility's good performance to its "strong, conservative" financial policy which Kidder Peabody outlined in a report it issued in April.

This policy has allowed the utility to establish itself as a "very viable utility, which does not rely on the government," he said.

The policy is based on Hydro's insistence on interest coverage of not less than 1.25 times, without allowance for interest charged for construction work in progress.

Claude Blanchard of Greenshields Inc., a Montreal investment house, noted that Quebec granted Hydro a 20-per-cent increase this year, compared with average increases of 10 per cent for the last three years. Yet Quebecers still pay less for electricity than Ontario Hydro customers, where yearly rate increases have averaged about 17 per cent.

Both Blanchard and Waters agreed that Hydro-Quebec's dependence on hydro-generated power rather than more costly nuclear power was another point in the utility's favor. Operating Quebec's massive Manic 5 power development takes only a staff of about 25, "including the cleaning lady," Blanchard said.

Asked if U.S. investors were basing their confidence in Quebec simply on the success of Hydro-Quebec, both men were quick to point out that the government itself is in good shape.

The PQ's first budget, handed down in April by Finance Minister Jacques Parizeau, impressed investors as being "conservative" and "down-to-earth," they said.

In its annual report, Hydro-Quebec announced it was increasing its capital expenditures by 70 per cent this year, mainly to accelerate its work on the James Bay power project.

European police crack bootleg jeans racket

BASEL, Switzerland AP - Police said Thursday they have cracked an international ring importing phony Levi blue jeans from the Far East to sell in Europe.

Swiss and Dutch police said they seized 52,000 pairs of jeans, all bearing forged labels of the Levi Strauss Co., the world's best-known manufacturer. They estimated the shipment's value at $800,000, or about $15 a pair.

The seizure was the most damaging strike yet against the huge European trade in denims sold under the counterfeited trade names of top U.S. brands, police said.

They said four foreigners were arrested here and charged with attempted fraud in connection with a plan to ship 30,000 pairs of jeans from Basel to West Germany. The suspects, a West German, a Dutchman, an Italian and a Briton, have been freed on $4,000 bail each. Their names were not released.

A Basel police official, said the seized jeans were manufactured in Taiwan and carried forged Levi labels.

Police said interrogation of the Dutch suspect led to the seizure of 22,000 additional fake Levi's in an Amsterdam warehouse. Dutch police said those jeans appeared to have been manufactured in South Korea and were bound for Eastern Europe.

Lasagne said the investigation, which was prompted by a criminal complaint filed by Levi Strauss Co., was still under way.

Both Levi Strauss and Blue Bell, Inc., maker of Wrangler-label denims, have sent investigators to Europe to trace supply and distribution routes of the imitations, which are marketed at cut-rate prices.

West Germany, whose $800 million denim market is the biggest in Europe, was a chief target.

In Moscow, U.S. jeans can bring up to $66 on the black market.

Sutton tosses sparkler

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Don Sutton pitched a brilliant one-hitter as Los Angeles Dodgers defeated San Francisco Giants 7-0 Thursday.

Sutton had a no-hitter until two out in the eighth inning when Marc Hill broke it up with a single to left.

The Dodgers' right-hander, winless in seven starts since July 4, surrendered two walks in the first inning, then retired 21 straight batters before giving up the Giants' only hit.

Dave Lopes and Reggie Smith smashed home runs for the Dodgers, supporting the fifth one-hitter of Sutton's career.

Elsewhere Thursday, the red-hot Boston Red Sox defeated Milwaukee Brewers 8-4 for their 17th victory in the last 19 games. The victory widened the Red Sox' American League East lead to 3½ games over idle Baltimore Orioles.

Richie Hebner's grand slam home run—his first in the major leagues—erased a 3-2 Montreal lead in the fifth inning and Philadelphia Phillies went on to down the Expos 8-3.

Pittsburgh Pirates, second in the National League East, used long ball power to defeat Chicago Cubs 7-6, and Minnesota Twins, in the thick of the four-team race in the American League West, whacked Seattle Mariners 8-3.

George Scott drilled four hits, including a pair of two-run singles, and scored twice, leading Boston past Milwaukee.

Ferguson Jenkins, 10-7, was tagged for six hits and four runs before a Brewers' batter was retired in the second inning, then slowed just three hits the rest of the way. The veteran retired 16 successive batters during one stretch.

SCOTT LEADS RALLY
Scott's second two-run single helped the Red Sox overcome a 4-3 deficit in the third. Singles by Steve Dillard and Jim Rice and a fielder's choice fueled the rally.

Pittsburgh got home runs from Al Oliver, Dave Parker, Phil Garner and Bill Robinson in outslugging the Cubs.

Garner's two-run homer came in the fifth when the Pirates scored threetimes, taking the lead for good.

Rookie right-hander Paul Thordogard, backed by a four-run first inning, pitched Minnesota past Seattle with an eight-hitter.

Minnesota got RBI singles from Larry Hiale, Lyman Bostock and Butch Wynegar in its big first inning and another run scored on a throwing error by Seattle left fielder Steve Braun.

Dennis Leonard hurled a fourhitter, leading Kansas City Royals to a 4-0 victory over Cleveland Indians.

Mickey Rivers put New York ahead with a two-run single in the seventh inning and scored what proved to be the winning run on Lou Piniella's single as the Yankees held off Detroit Tigers 5-4.

Dock Ellis shackled Toronto on three hits and Toby Harrah and Bump Wills slammed home runs Thursday night to keep Texas Rangers in first place in the American League West with an 8-0 victory over the Blue Jays.

Protest denied

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—The Canada Summer Games jury on Thursday turned down a protest by the Quebec team against the system used to determine provincial point standings in sailing at the 1977 Games. Jury chairman R.J. McLennan of Fredericton said the jury could not rule on the protest because the Canada Games handbook allows the governing bodies of individual sports to devise their own method of determining the overall team standing.

Klein of Terrace participates in the 12-minute run at the B.C. Volleyball Association summer camp in Williams Lake.

Anna and Kathy Brewer are the two Terrace residents taking part in the volleyball camp which will be attended by 350 students and 82 coaches for the three four-day sessions.

Four top Japanese national coaches and the former coach of the Bulgarian national team are among those helping to guide the students towards a better knowledge of the game.

BASKETBALL

Canadians win opening match

By JOHN SHORT
SOFIA, Bulgaria (CP)—The Canadian men's basketball team got solid performances Thursday from three players left from the 1976 Olympic team in a 71-43 triumph over Greece in the first round of the World Student Games.

Centre Lars Hansen of Coquitlam, B.C., a student at University of Washington, paced the Canadians with 24 points and 13 rebounds while Jamie Russell of Niagara Falls, Ont., had 13 points and Mike Visser of Sudbury, Ont., contributed eight.

Hansen, Russell and Martin Riley of Winnipeg contributed to Canada's fourth-place finish at the Montreal Olympics.

Riley had a series of turnovers but helped the Canadians through their few tough moments with some tenacious defensive play and good ballhandling.

The men's victory came about an hour before the Canadian women's team took a 76-64 whipping from host Bulgaria.

A crowd of about 2,000 booed the Canadian girls throughout the first half and Canada managed a 38-36 tie at the intermission.

Both men's and women's volleyball teams lost in first-round matches.

The women's team had an outstanding first set before bowing 18-16 to Brazil, which won the next two sets quickly. The men's team lost 2-0 to Yugoslavia.

Meanwhile, the Soviet Union picked up where it left off in 1973 by winning the men's team gymnastics for the first gold medal Thursday.

The Soviet Union, which collected 68 gold medals at the last Games in Moscow four years ago, finished ahead of silver medalist Japan in the first event of the 1977 Games.

China, virtually unknown on the gymnastics scene and competing in its first Student Games, surprised the experts by finishing third.

Canada placed 12th. China also raised some eyebrows by beating West Germany, 67-62 in the opening round of the women's basketball round-robin tournament.

Fastball finals

The Skeena Cedar Kings will playoff against Houston this weekend to determine who will represent this area in the B.C. Senior "B" Men's Fastball Provincial Finals.

There will be three games this Sunday afternoon at Riverside Park 1 p.m., 3 p.m. and 5 p.m. Cost is two dollars. This will get you into all three games.

Come on out and cheer our team to the Labour Day weekend finals in Kelowna.

Help us help Senior Citizens

We want to make sure that every senior citizen who may be eligible for SAFER knows about it.

Shelter Aid For Elderly Renters (SAFER) is the new programme that gives senior citizens in need direct cash payments to assist in the payment of rent. The amount of the SAFER payment is based on how much income the senior citizen receives, and how much is paid for rent.

To make sure that every senior citizen who may be eligible knows about SAFER, information cards were recently sent to ALL senior citizens in the Province. Those who may be eligible were asked to return the card to receive an application form.

Many requests for application forms have now been received by SAFER. But we want to make sure that no senior citizen who may be eligible is missing out on the assistance he or she is entitled to.

If you're a senior citizen who may be eligible, make sure you have applied. Or, if you know any senior citizens who qualify, please help us help them by making sure they apply.

ELIGIBILITY

All senior citizens who meet EACH of the following conditions are eligible:

- they are 65 years or older.
- they are renters.
- they are paying more than 30% of income for rent.
- they are in receipt of Canadian Old Age Security.
- the senior citizen OR spouse has:
 - i) lived in British Columbia for two years immediately prior to application.
 - OR
 - ii) resided in British Columbia for a continuous five year period at any time.

To make it as easy as possible, all Chartered Banks, Trust Companies and Credit Unions in the Province have information and additional application forms available. And, if any assistance is required in filling out the form they'll be happy to help. Information, application forms and assistance are also available at the B.C. Housing Management Commission in Vancouver, and at the regional offices of the Ministry of Municipal Affairs and Housing in Victoria, Prince George, Kelowna, and Cranbrook.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20) ♈
If you're planning an unusual venture, it would be wise to "go it alone" for the present. Associates may be unreliable or impractical.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21) ♉
A good word from the right source may enable you to attain the recognition you have been seeking. You have just cause for optimism.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21) ♊
Stick close to facts and control your imagination. Don't try to put a square peg into a round hole. Pick your way discreetly.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23) ♋
You may face some complications—in quite unexpected areas. How you handle situations and the pace you set will determine their solution.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23) ♌
What's expedient is not always wise. Be careful where and when you must refuse, consent, or dismiss suggestions from your mind. But don't automatically reject another's idea.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with a fine intellect and are extremely progressive in your thinking. You have a flair for the dramatic but, unlike many Leos, are usually more attracted to business than the stage. Your sense of the theatrical evidences itself no matter what career you pursue, however. In either business or governmental positions, your leadership is such that those under your supervision, drawn to you almost magnetically, follow with almost blind loyalty; in the legal field, your histrionics would make you an excellent trial lawyer. Other fields in which you could shine: finance, invention, exploration, archeology. But you do belong in public life. A whale of a fight

VANCOUVER CP Greenpeace Foundation members Bob and Bobbi Hunter have arrived in Sydney, Australia, to launch a campaign against the country's whaling operations.

The man and wife team hope to launch the 70-foot Fabrina, a former research vessel, to harass Australian harpoon boats sailing from Albany on the southwest coast, a statement from the foundation said Wednesday.

The Hunters and 25 supporters will drive to Albany, 3,000 miles away, to join members of Australia's aboriginal tribes who are also opposed to the whale hunt.

Details on plans to confront the harpoon boats were not released because of expected hostility from whalers and local authorities. Western Australia officials have warned they will not tolerate interference with the whale hunt.

Greenpeace spokesman Rod Marining said the Fabrina will have a crew of about 12 and will carry two speedboats and several other craft to intervene between the whales and harpoon boats. It will be out for about 45 days.

Boysenberry Origin

There is some dispute regarding the origin of the boysenberry. It is commonly stated that it resulted from crossing loganberry, blackberry and dewberry — a triangle which sounds difficult to arrange and one which is viewed with skepticism by many experts who claim that the berry was a "sport" from the dewberry.

Fruit Sauces

You can make delicious sauces from apples, cherries, cranberries, peaches or rhubarb. Serve applesauce or rhubarb sauce as a simple dessert. Cranberry sauce and applesauce are good with meats and poultry. Cherry sauce and peach sauce make colorful toppings for ice cream, puddings, sponge cake or angel food cake.

Broiling Fresh Fruits

Broiled apple rings, bananas, and peaches go well with meats. During broiling, watch the fruit carefully to avoid scorching. Place broiler rack at height recommended by the manufacturer of your range.

CANADA SUMMER GAMES

Four gold medals for Quebec swimmer...so far!

By ROB MATTHEWS

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — A 15-year-old Quebec student won his fourth gold medal in swimming at the Canada Summer Games Thursday as Quebec and Ontario continued to battle for supremacy in the pool and Games records kept falling.

Peter Szmidt of Pointe Claire got a quick start in the 400-metre freestyle and held off Darrell Dean, 17, of Regina to win in 4:05.09. Szmidt had previously won the 100 and 200 freestyle races and was a member of Quebec's winning team in the 200 freestyle relay.

Johanna Malloy, 15, of Thunder Bay, Ont., also brought her gold medal count to four as a member of Ontario's victorious team in the women's 400 freestyle relay. The winning time was 3:59.62.

Susan Mason, 17, of Halifax; Jody McPhee, 15, of Sudbury, Ont.; Dan Rogers, 18, of Mississauga, Ont.; and Jennifer Boulianne, 14, of Pointe Claire, each won their second golds. Chris Erickson, 18, of Surrey, B.C., won his first.

Mason won the women's 400 freestyle, McPhee the women's 200 individual medley, Rogers the 200 backstroke, Erickson the men's 200 individual medley, and Boulianne the women's 200 backstroke, all in record times.

Carole Vanier of Montreal won her second cycling gold medal, in the women's 53-kilometre road race, with Mary Ann Kokan of Winnipeg second and Peggy Bailey of Calgary third.

Gary Trevisiol of Sudbury, Ont., won the men's 91-kilometre road race with Lido Crema of Vancouver second and Andre Gervais of Montreal third.

Quebec took team honors in cycling with Ontario second and Manitoba third. In women's softball, Ontario qualified for the medal playoffs by defeating Prince Edward Island 3-2 in a playoff to decide second place in Division B. Quebec won first place in Division A with a 2-1 decision over British Columbia.

Saskatchewan, the defending softball champion, joined Ontario, Quebec and B.C. in the medal playoffs.

Szmidt was happy about his quick start in the 400 freestyle, which he won in 4:05.09. Earlier in the week he had complained about slow first legs "but today for some reason it was a really good start, and I had enough left at the finish to hold off the others."

Dean closed fast to finish second in 4:05.94 and Dennis Corcoran, 17, of Mississauga, Ont., was third in 4:08.88.

Malloy anchored the Ontario team to a three-second victory in the 400 freestyle relay. Her finishing kick allowed her to overtake Quebec in a time of 3:59.62. Carol Klimpel, 14, of Toronto, Kwasny, 14, of Thunder Bay, were the other members of the team.

Quebec was second in 4:02.61 and British Columbia third in 4:04.58. Mason led from the start in her 400 freestyle victory, touching first in 4:22.87 while Lorinda Parkes, 14, of Toronto, came from behind in the last 50 metres to be second in 4:24.87.

Enterprise races to victory

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — Skipper Lowell North steered Enterprise to her first victory of the America's Cup defence finals Thursday, crossing the finish line one minute, two seconds ahead of Ted Hood's Independence.

Tuesday. That win, the most lopsided of the America's Cup summer, gave Australia a 4-0 sweep of the series.

The winner of the challenger finals earns the right to face one of three American yachts—Enterprise, Courageous or Independence—in the Cup series beginning Sept. 13.

ROBERTS TRADED

MONTREAL CP

Montreal Canadiens announced on Thursday they have traded veteran right winger-defenceman Jim Roberts to St. Louis Blues for "future considerations."

Roberts, 37, best known for his defensive ability during a National Hockey League career spanning 14 seasons, joined the Montreal club for the 1983-84 season.

He was selected by the Blues from Montreal during the 1967 expansion draft but returned to the Canadiens in exchange for winger Phil Roberto in December, 1971.

Last season Roberts, injured during a good part of the schedule, scored five goals and assisted on 14 others in 45 games.

For Enterprise, which got a 27-second jump at the start of the Thursday's initial duel, it was the first win of the final series. She was defeated twice Tuesday by Courageous, 1974 Cup defender.

Sweden's Sverige handed Gretel II her second straight loss, leaving the Australian 12-metre yacht facing a do-or-die situation in the Cup challenger semi-finals.

Sverige, which lost the start by a mere second, passed Gretel II on the first windward leg and gradually expanded her lead through the 24.3-mile race to 2:11 at the finish.

The win gave skipper Pelle Petterson of Sverige a 3-2 record against the old Australian yacht, meaning Gretel II must win the next race in the best-of-seven series or be eliminated from the challenge.

The yacht Australia won a berth in the foreign finals by defeating Baron Marcel Bich's France I by 10:16

Dave Cutler heads for points record

TORONTO CP — Dave Cutler of Edmonton Eskimos is on the verge of becoming the Canadian Football League's all-time leading scorer.

CFL statistics released today show the Edmonton kicker with 61 points so far this season for a career total of 1,027, just four behind former Calgary Stampeders kicker Larry Robinson.

Earlier this season, Cutler moved up from third place to pass Tommy-Joe Coffey who retired five years ago with 971 career points.
